

Module 06: A European Crisis? Demographics and Immigration

Evidence 10: Immigration by Region: France, Germany, and the United Kingdom, 1958-1988

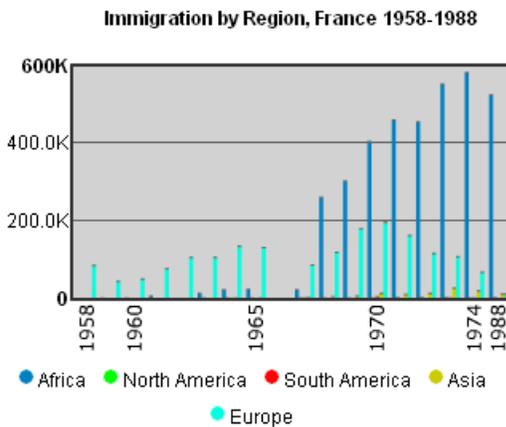

Introduction

The graphs below illustrate where the new immigrants to Europe originated. Due to the varied histories, particularly the colonial histories, of France and Britain, the origins of the immigrants to each country differ substantially.

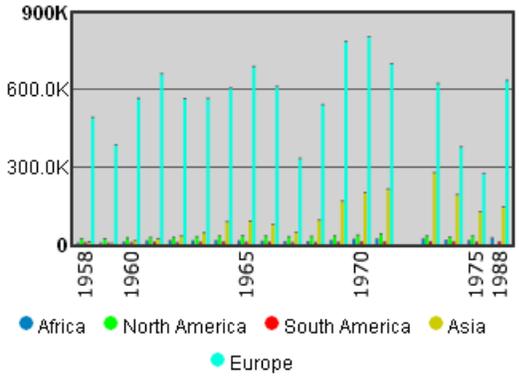

Questions to Consider

- What trends can you uncover?
- For each country, determine which region the majority of immigrants comes from, and whether this changes over time.
